Read the passage and answer the following questions on the basis of what is stated or implied in each passage.

The growing gap between rich and poor countries will become more evident in the field of medical care. The WHO emphasizes the increasing disparity between the North and South specifically in the areas of health and life expectancy. The gap will increase with the developing sophistication of the therapeutic methods in the industrialized countries and the inefficient and literally non-existent medical infrastructures in the other half of the world. One real problem of this current situation is that high mortality rates in certain regions may come to be seen as a de facto solution to the problem of rapid population growth. We must examine the processes, patterns, and time span for world demographic transition and study its relationship with the environment.

24. The passage is mainly concerned with _____

- ① health and life expectancy
- ② population growth
- ③ medical development
- ④ economic gap

25. The "North and South" in this paragraph refer to _____

- ① communist and democratic countries
- ② industrialized and primitive countries
- ③ rich and poor countries
- ④ developing and less-developed countries
